Summary

- Ethereum will undergo a hard fork in the coming days in order to mitigate the recent uptick in denial of service (DoS) attacks on the network. We were not well prepared for the prior fork, and hope to be better prepared for this one. Ethereum is definitely taking a "move fast" approach, but that continues to be where we see the vast majority of developer activity
- Although it is still early, our excitement for Ethereum and protocol tokens grows
- We are hiring engineers with a number of offers extended this week. Referrals appreciated.

Until next month!
