hmmmm k, your calendar seems unusually open on Saturday. Shall I give you a call to chat a bit about this? If so, I'll send you an invite so I don't bother H██████████.

Jeffrey, speaking of calendars - any news on your trip to Europe?

Step one to have a small meeting at MIT sometime relatively soon and then a bigger meeting in Hong Kong to talk about the future governance stuff around bitcoin and crypto currencies. I'm coordinating a bit with the W3C payments working group that's getting set up. We should meet and discuss.

Alex mentioned that you were interested in putting together an event or summit that would bring together top stakeholders from industry, government, and academia to look at the impact of cryptocurrency on society. Coin Center would love to partner with you on such an effort. Would you have some time over the next month to have a call to discuss it? Thanks for your time.

This might be a great opportunity for Coin Center to collaborate on in getting such a summit off the ground; I'm sure there is commonality with some things you may already be working on. I'll defer to Joi to furnish more details on what he's been thinking so far & who he's been talking with.
